The Death Stricken Valley.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., June 5.—In the midst of this scene of death and desolation a relenting Providence is exerting a kindly influence. The temperature remains low in the Conemaugh valley. Its benefit is inestimable and should it continue for a few days longer it is possible that hundreds of bodies may yet be recovered in such a state of preservation as to render identification possible. Many hundreds of victims however have been roasted and charred into shapeless masses.

The work of clearing up the wreck, and recovering the bodies, is being conducted systematically. Over 6,000 men are at work in the valley. As the rubbish is gone over and the bodies and articles of value recovered, the debris is piled up and the torch applied. In twenty four hours more every part of the mass of rubbish in the city will probably have been searched over and the investigations will then be confined to the smoking wreck above Johnstown bridge.

At the commissary station this morning 15,000 people were fed and 600 families furnished with provisions. Five car loads of clothing were also distributed and now, all at every one is for the present provided for. At the different registration places, 18,000 residents of the devastated district, having a population before the flood of between 40,000 and 50,000 have registered. There were one hundred or more people waiting around the office all morning to have their names placed on the list of the saved. It is thought that by to morrow night 85 per cent of the survivors will be registered.

This morning 1100 men arrived in charge of the Hon. Wm. Flynn, of Pittsburg, and by 11 o'clock they had succeeded in doing more work at clearing away the debris than had been done heretofore. Seventy-five carpenters and twenty car loads of provisions also came up. Another delegation of workmen came from Braddock, each man supplied with tools and prepared to go to work immediately. Thirty doctors arrived from Philadelphia this morning. They [illegible] thanked for their willingness to help but their services were declined from the fact that there are no sick to take care of. In the Prospect hospital on the hill top there are [illegible] patient.

This afternoon fifty bodies were taken from the debris in front of the Catholic church in Johnstown borough. Forty of these were women. The First Presbyterian church is being used as a morgue and seventeen bodies taken from the debris at the river have been put there. The relief corps from Altoona found a body near the Stony creek bridge this morning on which was a gold watch and $250 money. This corpse took out thirty-two bodies from the ruins to day. Five bodies were taken out of the wreckage near Nibert's bank on Main street this morning. Clara Barton of the Red Cross society arrived this morning and went to work.

Something like accuracy is being reached in the estimates of the loss of life. The most conservative now put the number at 10,000. Nine hundred army tents have been provided and two white walled villages now afford shelter to nearly 6000 homeless people. Talk of rebuilding the town has already begun and it is thought that the great Cambria Iron works will be running again in 30 days, and portions of them may start in two weeks. One hundred men are at work clearing away for this purpose.

8 p. m.—Where Johnstown's principal stores stood last Friday are now pitched 100 tents and before to morrow night this number will probably be doubled. Under this shelter are accommodated the members of the militia and thousands of workmen who are trying to clean the streets of this wrecked city. Over 5000 men are thus employed in Johnstown proper, about 1500 of these being regular street hands hired by contractors the others being volunteers. Wm. Flynn, the Pittsburg contractor, who is in charge of the army of laborers, in an interview [illegible] one thing, anything the chaotic condition of this city.

"It will take 10,000 men thirty days to clear the grounds so that the streets will be passable and the work of rebuilding can be commenced," said he, "and I am at a loss to know how the work is to be done. This enthusiasm will soon die out and the volunteers will want to return home. It would take all summer for my men alone to do what work is necessary. Steps must be taken and at once to furnish gangs of workmen, and to-morrow I shall send a communication to the Pittsburg chamber of commerce, asking for the different branches of mechanics of the Conemaugh valley to take charge for a month or six weeks. Strong bands of workmen should come for a week at a time so the organization can be effected when workmen arrive and leave when their place. The volunteers are doing a big work. Nearly every town in western Pennsylvania is represented, and [illegible] men and [illegible] New York have [illegible] other parts of Pennsylvania. These volunteers are working with a will but before the end of the week they will want to return home."

Men who come here will be paid $2 per day and board. All the laborers who have been living with the wreck are stopping [illegible] some in barns and others in the houses referred to. It was [illegible] like that of army life at the time that supper was ready and the long pine tables were crowded with men to the board and cheese was the fare to night but substantial rations will be given out to morrow. As darkness came over the scene the valley became quiet, the only noise being the occasional challenge of a militiaman as he hailed some belated individual obey the orders of the sheriff and leave the city of death. Johnstown is under martial law and only laborers are wanted.

The grey mists had scarcely risen from the hills this morning until thousands of funerals were coursing up their green sides. There were no hearses, few mourners and as little solemnity as formality. Instead of six pall bearers to one coffin there were generally six coffins to one bearer. No minister of God was there to pronounce the last blessing as the clods rattled down, except in a few cases, when a short prayer was said and the mangled bodies thus consigned to the graves. A fact that has heretofore been overlooked in the awful strain is the soiled condition of the corpses. Fully one third of those recovered have been so mangled, bruised or charred that identification is impossible.

All day long coffins were being hurried below ground. Unidentified bodies were buried in groups on the high hill west of the stricken city, where one epitaph must be for all, and that is the word "Unknown." There are hundreds of the graves already and each day will increase the proportion. The possibility of identification diminishes every hour. Fires raging over the graves of hundreds and the partial cremation of many bodies is inevitable. Although the funerals of this morning relieved the morgue of their sad, before night they were as full of the dead as ever.

The enormity of the devastation wrought by the Conemaugh flood is becoming more and more apparent with every effort of the laborers to resolve order out of chaos. Over 100 men have been all day engaged in an effort to clear a narrow passage from the death bridge upward through the sea of debris that blocks the Conemaugh for nearly half a mile. Every ingenuity known to man has been resorted to by this crew. Giant powder and dynamite were brought into requisition and at frequent intervals the roar of explosions reverberated through the valley and sticks, stones and logs would fly high in the air. Gradually a few of the heaviest timbers were demolished and the fragments permitted to float downward through the center arch. At nightfall, however, the clear space above the bridge did not exceed sixty feet in length and forty feet in width. When one reflects that fully twenty-five acres are to be cleared in this way the task ahead seems an interminable one but there is no other way and if the hundreds or thousands of bodies that lie beneath these blackened ruins are to be recovered for Christian burial the laborers of to day must be continued with incessant vigor.

There are many conservative minds that recommend the use of the torch in this work of clearing the river but they are not among the sufferers, and when such counsels are heard by those whose wives, children, sisters or brothers rest beneath this sea of flotsam and jetsam the suggestions of cremation meet with a furor of objections. It is only in deference to the unreasoning mandate of grief that the herculean labor of clearing the river by means of dynamite and derrick is persisted in. There is no hope in the calmer minds that this task can be pursued to the end. The progress of to day is hardly discernible and ere two more days have elapsed there is but little doubt that the pestiferous from the putrid bodies will have become so frightful as to drive the hardiest workman from the scene. Until that time arrives, however, there is no hope that this grief stricken populace will abandon the cherished hope of again gazing upon the forms of loved ones whose lives went out in the fire and flood of Conemaugh. The pleadings of sanitarians and the logic of engineers alike fail to find an echo in the minds of the grieving and afflicted, but in a few more days the sterner logic of nature will assert itself and in the face of an impossible task cremation will become a Christian duty.

10 p. m.—Notwithstanding the fact that nearly every prominent citizen in the United States is raising money for the relief of the Conemaugh sufferers, the wants of the homeless and afflicted are far from being alleviated. At the various relief stations to day the crowd [illegible] forced to wait in line for hours before their turn came and their little portion was allotted to them. Hundreds of thousands of dollars must pour into this stricken valley if the positive suffering and privation is to be avoided. Thousands of people are homeless and in want. Labor and manufacturing of nearly every kind is at a stand still in the valley, and weeks or months must elapse before the iron works and other industrial institutions can possibly resume and give employment to the thousands that depend upon them for support.

The cause of Johnstown was recognized by a public meeting held in Paris, France. The warm hearted Parisians express their sympathy with the homeless and afflicted of the Conemaugh valley and state that subscriptions are being taken for relief of their American brothers. Two hundred bodies were recovered from the ruins to-day. Some were identified but the great majority were not. The bodies were taken to the morgue either at the Pennsylvania railroad station, Prospect, Wood school house, Iron City, Moxeville or Presbyterian church. At the latter place a remarkable state of things exists. The interior has been washed out completely and the second story, but not so much damaged. The walls, floors and pews were drenched and now has collected on the matting and carpet one inch deep. Walking is attended with much difficulty and the undertakers and attendants with arms bare wade about the slippery surface at a tremendous rate. The chancel is filled with coffins lined with satin and lying across the tops of the pews are a dozen pine boxes each containing a victim of the flood. Cards are tacked on each and upon them is written the sex and full description of the enclosed bodies with the name if known. One of the most hideous and nauseating sights to those unaccustomed to scenes of death are the funeral arrangements for the unknowns. These men are working so hard and conscientiously that they have no time for meals and huge boilers of steaming coffee, loaves of bread, dried beef and preserves are carried into charnel houses and placed at the disposal of the workers. Along comes one of the weary toilers, his sleeves rolled up, apron in front and perspiring profusely despite the cold damp weather. He has just finished washing a clammy corpse, has dashed it with cold water, manipulated it about on boards and in the interval before the body of another poor wretch is brought in gets a cup of coffee and a sandwich. With dripping hands he eats his lunch with a relish, setting his cup occasionally beside the hideous face of a decomposing corpse and is totally oblivious to his horrible surroundings.

At the fourth ward school house where one of the work is done there was one slight trouble over the question of liquor. Rev. Mr. Beale, of the Presbyterian church, has charge of this house and objected to the undertakers drinking inasmuch as men without cast iron constitutions could not work at anything in this place incessantly without stimulants of some kind, the undertakers protested against Beale's unreasonable prejudice. It is said that they threatened to cease attending the bodies. This had the effect of modifying Beale's temperance scruples.

As the days roll on and the heaps of debris are penetrated it becomes more and more apparent that the death list will be more than 5000, and the general impression is that the victims will number from between 9000 to 12,000. The deeper the wreckage drifts are penetrated the greater the number of bodies discovered. On Franklin avenue eleven were found to-day and a few minutes afterward twelve more were found. Dr. Lee, of the Pennsylvania state board of health, was to-day asked what his opinion was on the prospects of an epidemic in the Conemaugh valley. He said: "God only knows. No man living can tell what will come out of this pile of drift and wreckage. To-day we started a portion of our corps of sanitary inspectors into the thick of the debris and in a little while fifty dead animals, mostly horses, had been removed and hauled away for burial. If this percentage is kept up here there is a fearful amount of decomposing animal matter to be removed or encountered. I have to pay ordered the surgeon general at Washington to forward unlimited quantities of disinfectants to Johnstown. There is more promised from up the mountain and I hope to be able to have the whole city fumigated inside of a few days."

A house to house canvass was ordered by the sanitary authorities to day, and its revelations as far as it went were startling in the extreme. It was found that four and even six families are crowded into a single house, and as high as fifty slept in one room; that doors and windows were left closed to shut out the stench and the damp, and that as a result pneumonia, the existence of which was first discovered by an associated press correspondent, was gaining an alarming foothold. It is estimated that there are at least one hundred well defined cases of the disease in Johnstown to-day.

The coroner's jury to day preceded to the South Fork reservoir and investigated the cause of the breakage of the dam. Witnesses testified that slight breaks had appeared in the dam several times in the past few years but had each time been cleanly repaired with straw, sticks and rubbish. The general impression is that the jury will declare the Pittsburg Fishing club that owned the reservoir guilty of gross negligence in that event many suits for damages against this millionaire club will doubtless follow.

Aid for the Sufferers.

PITTSBURG, June 5.—The mayor to-day forwarded $1125 to the Johnstown sufferers and another fund for the same purpose is being raised.

ASPEN, Colo., June 5.—On Tuesday the Aspen Times started a subscription list for the benefit of the Johnstown sufferers and by three o'clock telegraphed the governor of Pennsylvania $275. To day $130 more was sent. The remittances will continue daily. It is thought that by Saturday fully one thousand dollars will have been sent. The mayor has issued a proclamation calling a mass meeting for Saturday evening, at which [illegible] will be great. It is increased.

[illegible] June 5.—Subscriptions to the Johnstown relief fund in the city here reached $21,900. Contributions from the [illegible] are likely to swell the amount [illegible]. One bank here alone has checked for one thousand dollars but for reasons [illegible] not subscribe.

[illegible] June 5.—It is estimated that the [illegible] contributions for the Johnstown sufferers to date will aggregate [illegible] hundred thousand dollars.

DENVER, June 5.—The municipal council at the suggestion of Lord Mayor [illegible] adopted an address of condolence to sufferers by the Pennsylvania floods.

PARIS, June 5.—At a meeting of American merchants held to day at the United States legation to express the sympathy of Americans in Paris with the Johnstown sufferers the rooms of the legation were literally packed and many went away unable to gain admittance. United States Minister Reid presided. Among the resolutions adopted expressing sympathy was the following: "That as American citizens we congratulate the survivors of Johnstown upon and thank them for the numerous acts of noble heroism displayed under circumstances calculated to unnerve the bravest. Especially do we admire their for the capacity for local self government upon which is the authority of a union in matters requiring the military organizations sent from distant points to preserve order during the crisis that supervened have gone home to their homes as no longer required within 48 hours of their coming. In these few hours civil power asserted itself and resumed sway without aid or counsel from distant authorities but solely by and from inherent power which remains in the people of Johnstown themselves."

Brief and touching speeches were made by Lewis Lawton, late United States minister to Austria, Abram S. Hewitt and others. A committee was appointed to receive subscriptions and about $2,000 was subscribed on the spot. The American bankers all agreed to open subscriptions at their banking house. "Buffalo Bill" subscribed the entire receipts of one entertainment to be given under the auspices of the committee.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The receipts of cash at the mayor's office in this city to day aggregate $130,000. Beside this over $100,000 was subscribed to other funds of exchanges and newspapers. Associated press dispatches from various points outside of Washington and Philadelphia report the flood subscription during the day and night at $110,000.

BASE BALL.

Another Fine Game Won by the Colts.

The large crowd in attendance at the ball game yesterday afternoon witnessed another remarkably fine game. Up to the last inning the playing on both sides was intensely interesting and elicited yell after yell of approval from the enthusiastic spectators. M. Fitzgerald pitched his best game for the Springs. He struck out thirteen men and was hit for only six base hits. The fine work of the Springs' field prevented the Leadville from scoring more than two runs. The errors on the home side were only two, while ten were scored by Leadville.

The game was thoroughly enjoyable from the fact that neither team did much kicking. The Leadvilles knew they were outplayed and took their defeat in good grace. Up to the seventh inning the chances of the Springs' winning seemed doubtful. When the eighth inning closed with a tied score everybody felt sure the game would be a repetition of the ten inning game of the previous day. In the last inning the Leadvilles managed to go to pieces and allowed the home team to score five runs on costly errors. Following is the WASHINGTON, June 5.—Postmaster General Wanamaker has sent a circular letter to the postmasters of 100 of the largest postoffices throughout the country with a view of ascertaining the relative importance of mails on Sunday as compared with the same on other days of the week in order to reduce the work on that day, if it shall be found to be practicable.

The information asked for covers the number of stamps and wrappers sold, the number of callers the mails dispatched and received, and the number of letter carriers and collections with the amount of matter collected and number of employes on duty on each Sunday in June as compared with week days during the same time.

Probability That the Line Will Be Built to Salt Lake.

Very Heavy Expenses of the Road As It Is at Present.

Offer for the Midland.

DENVER, June 5.—The Colorado Midland directors who have been in the city several days attending the annual meeting of the directors of the road left for New York this morning in Mr. Davis' special car. At the final meeting held last night the old board was re elected. Last year the subject of building to Salt Lake was discussed and it was then thought that the work of constructing the line would be begun this year but owing to the lack of funds it is now indefinitely postponed. Since the present management have taken hold of the line the business has increased and the road almost on a fair paying basis, but the outlay of such an amount of money as would be necessary to build the line to Salt Lake is thought inadvisable at the present time.

From well founded rumors it seems that the Rock Island directors made the Midland officers an offer for the road, but the deal has fallen through for the present owing to the fact that there was $1,000,000 difference between what was offered and the amount asked. One of the directors said: "There is not the least doubt but that the Midland will build either to Grand Junction or Salt Lake in four or more years and for this reason: the present line is an extremely expensive one, and if it was extended the heaviest part of the expense which is at this end could be divided over the new part and thus lessen the cost of maintaining and running. As to the Midland selling out, I suppose they would, like anybody, if they could get a good price for the line."

The officials and newly elected board of directors of the Rio Grande have left this morning over the Rock Island for New York where they will hold a meeting next week for the purpose of electing officers.

The Cronin.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The Cronin inquest was continued to day. Patrick McGovern, a friend of Cronin, testified that Coughlin told him that he expected to be nominated for the part he took in the investigation at Buffalo of the charges that Alexander Sullivan, while a member of the executive board of Clan na Gael, misappropriated a large amount of the society's funds and sent men to death and to British prisons to hide such misappropriation.

Pueblo Wins.

PUEBLO, June 5.—The Pueblo Pueblos won another victory from Aspen to-day. Carrow and Legg were the Aspen battery in the first three innings, but Carrow was knocked out of the box and Cobb took his place. Martin and Eliff were the Pueblo battery. Jimmy Adams, the Pony catcher, has been released to Aspen, and Sharp, Bilton and Stevens of the Solis team have been signed by the Ponies.

Lexington, June 5.—The Kentucky derby was won to-day by Donovan, Monroe J. Fidorado third. The starters were: Duke of Portland's Donovan, John Gordon's Poet Laureate, Mr. Arlington's, Pilgrim Against, Douglas Baird's Fidorado, J. Gretton's Miguel, Leopold De Rothschild's Merkley, M. E. Blanc's Clover, Dong Baird's Enthusiast, C. Perkin's Folengo, Mr. R. [illegible]'s Gulliver, J. Simon Harrison's Gay Hampton, Duke of Portland's Joseph and T. Jenning's Royal Star.

Donovan was the favorite in the betting at 5 to 3. At the second start the horses were dispatched, Merkley taking the lead followed by Folengo and Enthusiast. These three were clear of the rest of the field which was headed by Gay Hampton and Donovan, with Clover next, Fidorado and Poet Laureate last. These positions were unchanged until near the end, when Donovan took the lead with Donovan [illegible]. Soon Donovan went to the front, and cantered home, finishing one length and a half ahead of Miguel, while hard ridden Fidorado was a bad third, and Pilgrim fourth. Time 2:44 2-5, the weather was perfect.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—An attorney of this city recently wrote to the secretary of the treasury in behalf of the Catholic University of America located in the District of Columbia, saying that the university desired to have the services of several learned European professors for the Divinity department and inquired whether the immigration of such persons would be regarded by the department as a violation of the terms of the alien contract labor law. Mr. Hepburn, solicitor of the treasury, has given the opinion that the immigration of foreign professors under any contract express or implied would be clearly a violation of the alien contract labor law.

GIVE GENEROUSLY AND PROMPTLY.

In reading yesterday what other cities were doing to relieve the suffering at and near Johnstown, it was feared by many of our people that Colorado Springs was not doing her full share. The smallness of our subscription list has been due in part to a want of systematic effort in raising funds. A public meeting might have focused public attention to this event and have arranged for systematic endeavor for the collection of funds. But it is too late for this now. Mayor Stillman after informal conference with a few of our citizens has decided to follow the example of Mayor Londoner of Denver. A large part of the twelve thousand dollars raised in Denver was obtained by Mayor Londoner, who visited the different business houses to receive subscriptions. This morning Mayor Stillman and Alderman Stubbs will as far as possible visit all those in the business part of the city and give them the opportunity of doing something to mitigate the sufferings of the most unfortunate section in this country. They do not go to beg, and need not urge any right minded person to assist. Every person should give something, according to his means.

The terrible fire in Chicago in 1871 aroused the universal sympathy of the nation and called forth the generous aid. But the flood at Johnstown was far more fatal in its effects and causes many times the suffering. In Chicago thousands of families that were [illegible] had the blessing of knowing that every member of the family was safe. The head of the family could go forth resolutely and cheerfully to make himself a new home. But we must remember that hardly one of the survivors at Johnstown is mourning for the loss of property. Every family has lost one or all of its members. They are not thinking of their houses washed away, but of father, mother or children lost forever. The misery is inconceivable and surpasses that experienced by any other calamity in this country. No one can afford to deprive himself of the joy and blessedness of helping at this time. We can only mitigate physical suffering, and it should be our pleasure to do this. Never before in the life of this nation has there been such a sphere or such an opportunity for helping and probably it will never occur again in the lifetime of any of our readers.

Night before last two laboring men came to our office and each contributed his dollar. This is as it should be. None are too poor to give something in this emergency. During the day and subscriptions were handed in of various amounts. In the evening several large subscriptions were received from those who felt that the city should give a much larger amount than the situation yesterday morning promised. One of the business concerns contributed twenty-five dollars last night. This is a good example to all organizations in this city. A subscription paper was started last night among the GAZETTE force, but as many of the day work men could not be reached, it will not be published for another day. In every shop in the city subscription lists should be started, where those who can afford to give but very small amounts can have the opportunity. This city can easily afford to send two thousand dollars, and this amount should be raised to-day. We boast sometimes of advantages that this city possesses over others. Let us not be surpassed by our sister cities in giving.

Subscriptions will still be received at this office to be handed to Mayor Stillman.

We publish below the subscriptions so far as heard from, which amount to $802.00.

In the great disaster at Szegedin, where the river Theiss overflowed its banks, only three hundred and thirty one out of six thousand five hundred and sixty six houses remained. Yet but seventy seven people were drowned. Though this was considered a great disaster, how insignificant compared with that in Pennsylvania.

President Harrison in his address as presiding officer of the meeting held in Washington on Tuesday night in aid of the Johnstown sufferers said:

"In such a manner as we have here in the meeting to-day and other like gatherings that are taking place in all cities of this land, we have the only rays of hope and light in the overshadowing gloom. When such a calamitous visitation falls upon any section of the country, we can do no more than to put about the dark picture the golden border of charity."

To be [illegible]

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Acting Land Commissioner Stone has issued an order directing no more cases to be sent to the board of review for examination. The order states that the 17,000 cases now pending before that board will be examined and disposed of as rapidly as possible. This action is taken with a view to abolishing the board at the earliest possible date. The acting commissioner is also considering the advisability of abolishing the contest division in the general land office as unnecessary and a hindrance to the prompt transaction of public business. The board of review and the division of contests were created by executive order during Commissioner Sparks' administration of the general land office.

SILVER CITY, Mont., June 5.—Burrell, the operator at Silver City, was killed and P. C. Jobst, the Montana Central agent, probably fatally injured last night by two men. The object was [illegible]. A large amount of bullion was shipped from here yesterday, and the robbers were evidently not aware of the fact. It is not thought that the highwaymen secured over $200. The robbers fled in the direction of Marysville and the officers and [illegible] started in pursuit and overtook them. They refused to surrender, firing on the [illegible]. The fire was returned and both robbers were killed. They are unknown and look like foreigners.

At Point of Rocks at least forty families are totally destitute and the same is true of Sandy Hill and other little villages along the Potomac, some of which have been almost annihilated.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The [illegible] has received a letter from a committee of the National Wool Growers' Association of the United States, dated Columbus, Ohio, urging the necessity for an extra session of congress, to be convened at the earliest possible day, for the purpose of enacting the necessary legislation in regard to wool growing and other industries of the country.

Relief for Sore Feet.

People who have to stand for long periods in the day, or who walk long distances, often suffer considerably from a sense of heat in the feet. They would probably derive some benefit by using a powder which has been introduced in the German army for sifting into the stockings or shoes. It consists of three parts of salicylic acid, ten parts of starch, and eighty six parts of pulverized soapstone. This powder keeps the feet dry, prevents chafing and [illegible] any odor. A combination of Boston stock brokers recently sold a trained horse weighing twenty stone [illegible] caught at Sullivan, N. H.

A Sad Story.

An aged man who had lost a study of human nature stopped at a gate on Second avenue the other day and asked a small boy digging potatoes out of the grass:

"Bub, is your mother home?" "Yes, sir." "Married third girls within a week?" "No, sir." "How [illegible] all right?" "Yes, sir." "Got her new spring bonnet?" "She has." "Children well?" "Yes, sir." "Father go away good natured this morning?" "He did." "Then I guess I'll ring the bell and try to sell her a gold brick."

She took two, and asked him to call on a day or two with a $7 family Bible—the great Five Prize.

PARIS BIG EXHIBITION.

DESCRIPTION OF SOME OF ITS MAIN FEATURES

The Magnificent Art Collections—Some Curious Styles of Architecture—Under the Shadow of the Great Tower—Wonders of the Machinery Department

(Special Correspondence.)

Paris, Monday, May 30, 1889.—[illegible] the glorious [illegible] days ago I prepared this [illegible] give you a [illegible] the earliest notes [illegible] will have [illegible] impressions of what they [illegible] the Champ de Mars.

PERUVIAN INDIAN HOUSE.

But let us begin at the beginning [illegible] the exhibition grounds, [illegible] the most [illegible] to the part of the [illegible] at the [illegible] Quai d'Orsay, in front of the [illegible] office. To those who wish to go to the most interesting part of the old, old Champ de Mars, a funny little narrow gauge railroad is ready to take them up and which drops them in a few minutes in the center of the exhibition. But we shall do so all that is to be seen we will go on foot.

And it is well that we have [illegible] the cars, as though [illegible] weather, for some of the most [illegible] the exhibit are found on the Esplanade des Invalides. The [illegible] opens [illegible] stretching far in the [illegible] of Hôtel des Invalides, the [illegible] of Napoleon I. [illegible] stretching [illegible] the Seine. [illegible] the river, is devoted entirely to the exhibits of the [illegible] colonies. It is not generally supposed that this country has very extensive colonial possessions. But an hour spent in this part of the exhibition proves the contrary.

We find interesting exhibits from Guadeloupe, Martinique, Pondichéry, Cochin China, Algeria, Tonquin and [illegible]. There is a Cochin China village where you see not only the curious constructions of that portion of Asia, but also the not less curious natives. There Annamites and negroes from Madagascar, stately Arabs from Algeria and yellow skinned Asiatics from Asia, native soldiers from Tonquin and negroes from Senegal—such are some of the strange specimens of the human race that are mingling in the streets at the end of the Esplanade des Invalides.

Continuing all along the river bank, which is all in [illegible] and wild [illegible] part of the exhibition, [illegible] colonies [illegible] of the agricultural exhibits of France and the world. The large [illegible] exhibits, each front yield grain, machinery for the farm, wines, cider, beer, honey, everything in fact, that is produced by the earth, the animals of the earth or by the talent of man, for food and instrument. You might imagine yourself at one of our last agricultural fairs.

And here we [illegible] the gaiety that reigned on the front of the Champ de Mars. This is one of the most interesting parts of the exhibition. We have here a [illegible] of small houses, made of cement for the most part, the whole space forming a graphic history of man's habitations. You are shown the primitive form of primitive races, the Chaldeans of the Tigris, Persians and Egyptians, the [illegible] of the middle ages, the [illegible] of the Renaissance, the [illegible] of the Louis XIV. period, the [illegible] of the Louis XV. period, the [illegible] of the Louis XVI. period, the [illegible] of the Empire, the [illegible] of the Restoration, the [illegible] of the Louis Philippe period, the [illegible] of the Second Empire, the [illegible] of the Third Republic. Wool Market.

Coates Bros., wool commission merchants of Philadelphia, in their wool circular of June 1st have the following remarks.

Markets are yet but lightly supplied, though shipments from all sections are arriving and manufacturers who need stock are quietly taking them as fast as received. Growers are disposed to hold for firm prices and in many sections are asking figures higher than were expected or than operators are willing to pay. If circumstances should thus control the situation the market must advance in proportion but in some districts there are evidences of a slight reaction from the highest asking prices.

The secretary of the treasury has now issued the expected ruling on the worsted goods question and so called "worsteds" will hereafter be classified as woolens unless the decision be overruled by the courts, which is not likely. It must not, however, be forgotten that it will be a long time before the large importations already here can be cleared and the good market relieved from such competition, and also that the present action does not affect worsted yarns which will come in to come in at the old rates. The treasury department has also issued further instructions with regard to stopping the importations of scoured wools in the shape of cream "waste," but while the instructions show that the tariff act will now be more strictly construed, yet full relief can not be expected until congress makes such amendments as are more necessary by changes of method in business and manufacturing.

The auction sales of fleeces in New York this week were large and the prices realized better than expected. This should give some encouragement to consumers of wool.

As the receipts thus far have been the unwashed wools from the neighboring states, from Texas, and territory wools from the west and southwest, the values of most of these descriptions are quoted from actual sales, but as washed fleece has not yet reached market, quotations for it must be made from the prices of the remnant of old wool offering and a comparison with the values of new unwashed.

The following are the quotations for Colorado and New Mexico.

HELP FOR THE SUFFERING

All Diseases Scientifically Treated by Dr. B. Brown from Denver, Colo. Dr. Brown is a graduate from the Electro Selectic Colleges and England has opened office rooms 10 Park block and will be there every Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of each week. Dr. Brown would like to see all persons who would wish to avail themselves of this method of treatment. The Doctor's method of diagnosis and his method of treatment of diseases is well known to many citizens of Colorado where he has been in practice for the past twelve years and he can now be consulted free of charge, at room 10 Park block. The doctor will diagnose all diseases of both sexes without asking any questions of his patients. This is done from his knowledge of astrology, phrenology, physiology and the occult sciences pertaining to the diseases of the Mind and Body. To try to treat diseases without the full knowledge of these sciences is very much like trying to burn a lamp without oil. Dr. Brown cures morphine habit, all nervous diseases of both sexes cured and all sexual weaknesses can be cured by his wonderful methods. He also cures rheumatism by a special remedy prepared by him. He also prepares a medicine that will cure small pox or scarlet fever in twelve hours or prevent any person from taking either. No family should be without it.

All medicines are prepared by him. He has at his rooms his exhibition of life sized charts to explain diseases of mind and body are the finest in this country, both for ladies and gentlemen. Those needing his skill can be referred to the ladies who have been cured at Pueblo.

All ladies who are afflicted in any way should call on the doctor, as he has had years of practice with diseases peculiar to their sex, and can tell them what the matter is without a word from them, and will lecture to ladies only at city hall, Nevada avenue, Tuesday afternoon and to mixed audience Tuesday night at 8 p. m.

Dr. Bedell, who is associated with Dr. Brown, gives special treatment of Piles and all Rectal Diseases. Com[illegible] Exer[illegible]

The commencement exercises in connection with the close of the school year of the Deaf Mute and Blind Institute occurred yesterday afternoon at the Congregational church. The auditorium of the church was crowded with the friends of the graduates and others interested in the work of the institute. On the platform sat the directors and teachers of the institute. A very interesting program had been prepared, showing the work of the pupils. The essays of the graduating class were read for them, while they gave them in signs. Harry Wolpert of Denver, "A Good Beginning" "Paul Revere's Ride," [illegible] "English Race," and Miss Grace Young of Evans, Colorado, valedictory. The graduates are all young people under eighteen years of age, and have completed the course of study at the institute. Their essays were very creditable productions. Prof. Hay presented the diplomas with a few kind words of parting. During the afternoon prizes for scholarship and good conduct were awarded by the directors as follows: Chas. Morgan of the blind boys and Ella Leesher of the blind girls, Grace Young for the mute girls and Max Kestner for the mute boys. They were given suitable presents. Those of the pupils of the school who have homes to go to will leave to day. President Henri Foster spoke a few words to the pupils on behalf of the board of directors during the exercises.

There was an important meeting yesterday morning of the committees which have in charge the entertainment of the I. F. U. next Saturday. A number of important details were arranged. To day circulars will be sent out requesting a hundred of the best known business men and citizens to act as a committee of reception. It is proposed to have one citizen in every carriage to answer questions, etc. The course over which the visitors will be taken is as follows: They will arrive over both the Midland and Rio Grande railroads and after taking carriages will be driven to the corner of Tejon and Huerfano streets where the two parties will meet. Then the procession will move north on Tejon to San Miguel street, west on San Miguel to Cascade avenue south on Cascade avenue to Vermejo street east on Vermejo to Nevada avenue north on Nevada to San Rafael east on San Rafael to Weber street south on Weber to Boulder east on Boulder to the plat of ground which it is proposed to offer the I. F. U. for the location of the Printers home. Return along the city. Carriages will leave every day. Apply to Mrs. Hill, Box [illegible]

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1887

Colorado Springs vs Leadville at the ball grounds to-day. Good crowds and fine ball is now the order.

Mr Charles H Hawes, of Connecticut, formerly a resident of this city has returned and will locate permanently

Thatcher, Primrose and West's minstrels, consisting of forty five members, have an organized base ball club, also a wheling club in the company

The new military band will run an excursion to Denver the 4th of July, over the Santa Fe The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of new uniforms.

Mrs J Schwab, Miss Bertha Schwab and Mrs A Mars and children relatives of Mrs Leopold Robertson, arrived in this city over the Rock Island yesterday to spend the summer

The old brewary building that burned at Colorado City on Tuesday night was owned by the First National bank of this city. The loss was insignificant and was insured The bank was just negotiating the sale of it and the bargain would have been closed yesterday

At a meeting of the Jackson hose company held last night the sum of twenty five dollars was appropriated for the benefit of the Johnstown, Penn, flood sufferers This action is characteristic of the Jacksons who are always in sympathy with every charitable movement.

Colorado Springs is to have an unusual musical treat the second week in July in a concert to be given by Madame Carrington, whom Dr Damrosch calls the coming oratorio singer of America, and whom musical critics already pronounce the best oratorio singer since Parepa The concert will be given under the auspices of the Congregational church Full announcements will be made hereafter.

It is proposed to give a musical and literary entertainment in the Antlers room on Saturday evening for the benefit of the Johnstown sufferers. No admission will be charged but a subscription will be taken up.— The musical part of the programme will be supplied by well known musicians of this city, and Miss Estelle Schively, an elocutionist of note in the east has volunteered to do the reading.

The first excursion of the season over the Colorado Midland railway will be given Sunday, June 19, to Manitou Park under the auspices of the Jackson hose company The Jacksons are noted for their popular and successful entertainments. All who avail themselves of this opportunity to view the magnificent scenery along the Midland railroad and to enjoy a day's outing in the mountain parks will undoubtedly have a most enjoyable time.

A special meeting of the Colorado Springs Athletic club will be held at the club room corner of Kiowa and Weber streets, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock All members are particularly requested to attend as business of importance is pending. All persons interested in the formation of a cricket club are cordially invited. An interesting program has been arranged to take place after the meeting Quite a number of the members have promised to spar

Messrs. Morley, Haver & Co have just closed a sale with Mr. H. G. Thornton, of Manitou park, for five vehicles; one mountain wagon, one central wood Highland buggy and three single buggies, all of the celebrated Babcock work. Included in their order from Mr. Thornton, are three sets of stylish single harness and one very handsome double set of russet leather with double [illegible], two double whips and [illegible] dusters. The firm is [illegible] of carriages to-day.

An exchange in speaking of the company of artists who will appear at the opera house Monday evening says. "Thatcher, Primrose & West's minstrel company played at Boyd's last night to an audience that filled all parts of the house. There performance excelled any thing in that line that has ever been seen here. They call themselves the monarchs and are justly entitled to the full extent of the distinction It is not exaggeration to assert that Thatcher, Primrose & West have practically distanced every competitor in point of improvement and excellence. They have made a surprisingly pleasing departure and gone so far into legitimate classical fields that there is hardly a vestige of what has always been termed negro minstrelsy left. Their show is the neatest, cleanest and best yet put before the public".
